"Cajun" cuisine should properly fit under an umbrella of "Creole" cuisine, much like "Cajuns" themselves fit under the "Creole" umbrella. In any case, Cajuns and Creoles today are often presented as distinct groups, and many Cajuns disavow a Creole identity (and vice versa).

Cajuns - Wikipedia

Creole cuisine revolves around influences found in Louisiana from populations present in Louisiana before the sale of Louisiana to the United States in the Louisiana Purchase of 1803.. The term "Creole" describes the population of people in French colonial Louisiana which consisted of the descendants of the French and Spanish upper class, and over the years the term grew to include native ...
